

One family garden that's a consumer's success story

SUNOL — Eight-year-old Mitchell regarded the muddy furrows with a practiced eye.

The peppers growing in straight rows in the mud are bulging, shiny emerald green. Not big enough and firm enough yet to pick, by Nagata family standards. Even a farmer in the third grade knows that.

"Hey, Dad, I think it's time to turn the water off."

Mitchell Nagata is proud of the 35-acre family farm on Niles Canyon Road just beyond Sunol's main street. He loves to show visitors the crookneck squash plants with their flamboyant golden blossoms.

He frowns over the strawberry patch that's been laid low by mauling deer. And he enjoys watching the big, pale orange pumpkins glow in the sun, reminding him that Halloween isn't so far off.

When there's no school, Mitchell and little brother Tony, 3, help out in the fields side by side with their parents, Ken and Alice Nagata, and their grandparents, Tom and Yoshi. A stray black dog named "Lucky" and her fluffy pups complete the family.

Helping the Nagatas for the past 15 years has been foreman Conrad Terales of Sunol, who is in charge of a group of farm workers from Pleasanton and Livermore.

There's plenty to do, year-round. Springtime is heralded by the ripening of five fields of sweet strawberries.

That's the boys' favorite time of year. "We get tired of being out in the fields," Mitchell confides. "But we never get tired of eating strawberries!"

The summer season brings zucchini, pickling cucumbers along with a field of tangy dill weed; zucchini, spaghetti squash, vine tomatoes, garlic, salad cucumbers, cabbage and bell peppers.

In fall, the winter crops are planted: cauliflower, green onions, spinach, turnips, romaine and red lettuce.

The family sells vine-ripened produce at wholesale prices to local residents who can hunt out their sheds (following Route 84 west into Niles Canyon, turn left at the green barn where you see "Pacific Nursery" signs; the nursery shares the large plot of land. Follow the gravelled roads to the shed at the rear of the fields).

But most of their produce is trucked to the Oakland Market or sold to canneries.

Tom Nagata, patriarch of the operation, still operates the tractor and sorts the tomatoes and plucks dead leaves off the eggplant vines so the vegetables develop an ebony-purple sheen.

Born in Sacramento, Tom received his formal education in Japan, then returned to California in 1937.

During the war, he was interned with his wife at a camp in Newell. It was there his son, Ken, was born just before the end of the war.

Tom learned about farming "on the job," as foreman for an asparagus grower in Stockton. He farmed in Fremont before starting his career in Sunol with 10 acres of land.

Tom and his son are now partners in Sunol, while another son, Gary, farms in Hayward and Fremont.

They admit to using plenty of chemical fertilizers and liquid insectcides to keep their crops robust. But their method of animal control would please any organic farmer.

"I come out here around midnight with my flashlight and my dog," Ken reports, "and scare away the animals."

"We have a six-foot fence but the deer just jump it. Tender young strawberry plants, that's what they're after."

"Why don't I just shoot the deer? I don't want to do that."

"They're beautiful animals, really."

THREE GENERATIONS of the Nagata family are embraced by this tractor twosome — Tom Nagata and grandson Mitchell.

Holiday weekend was fatal one for some

The Labor Day weekend brought the summer to a close with four accidents in the valley that killed as many drivers and sent several others to the hospital.

Dead are 18-year-old Todd Siddall, 8685 Galindo Dr., Dublin, Don Allen Cambra, 22, Hayward, William Flores, 26, South San Francisco, and Steven Connell, 22, Hayward.

Siddall and his passenger, Edward R. Peterson Jr., 16, of 7587 Ironwood Dr., Dublin, were eastbound on Division Street in Pleasanton shortly after 2 a.m. Friday morning when their car reportedly struck the curb near St. Mary's Street and bounded out of control.

The two were pinned in the car after it struck a tree and caught fire, according to police. Pleasanton Fire Department personnel put out the blaze and pulled the pair from the car with "Jaws of Life" equipment.

Siddall, the driver, died later at Valley Memorial Hospital. Peterson was listed in critical condition in the hospital's intensive care unit yesterday with multiple fractures and cuts and head and internal injuries.

Don Cambra died instantly in an accident a few minutes before the other Pleasanton crash.

According to police, Cambra apparently missed the curve on Bernal Avenue near Main Street, shot one lane of traffic and jumped the curb before slamming into the side of the Veterans Memorial Building.

There were no witnesses to the accident, police said.

Meanwhile, two men on a motorcycle were killed instantly Sunday evening when their motorcycle veered from Vineyard Avenue and sent them hurtling into a pile of broken concrete and pipe.

Driver Steven Connell and his passenger, William Flores, were pronounced dead on arrival at Valley Memorial Hospital.

The California Highway Patrol said the two were westbound on Vineyard about a half-mile west of Isabel Avenue when the accident occurred.

They reportedly were traveling about 55 to 60-mph when the car in front of them turned sharply with the road. The pair apparently did not see the turn and shot off the road into a ditch full of debris, patrolmen said.

Details of a 3:15 p.m., Sunday, injury accident on Mines Road were not available, the California Highway Patrol said yesterday.

Alameda County firemen rushed to the scene, however, and said the occupants were taken to Valley Memorial Hospital.

'Buy Apperson Ranch now for wilderness'

A campaign is underway to make East Bay Regional Parks District the purchaser when portions of the Apperson Ranch near Sunol are offered at public auction.

The Preserve Area Ridgeland Committee (PARC) has urged its members to "send letters of support" to the Park District and that would make EBRPD an active bidder at this Friday's scheduled sale of "six of the eight parcels of (the Apperson Ranch) adjacent to Sunol Wilderness," to quote PARC's bulletin.

Apperson is confronted with the forced sale of part of his 3000-acre ranch in order to meet an earlier claim against the family-held estate. That sale is set for 10 a.m. at the County Courthouse on Fallon Street in Oakland.

PARC views this sale as "the prime chance" to resolve the conflict between expanding the "wilderness area" beyond Sunol Regional Park, and Apperson's own plans to develop part of his ranch to a "family dude ranch." "If the land (being auctioned on Friday) were to be secured by parties wishing to develop the area, then Sunol Park would most surely lose its secluded, private quality," PARC says. PARC also advises its members that the EBRPD executive committee has scheduled a meeting for today at 2 p.m. at 800 Madison Ave., Room 523, in Oakland. Property acquisition matters will be discussed by EBRPD starting at 4:40 p.m., according to PARC.

Lion's lead special blood drive

The Pleasanton Lions Club is seeking donations of blood for the wife of Lion Tony Kill.

Through a recent illness at Livermore Valley Memorial Hospital, Nancy Kill required 52 pints of blood which have to be replaced.

The Alameda Blood Bank will be at the Veterans' Hall, Main and Bernal Streets, Pleasanton, on Tuesday, Sept. 7 from 2 to 6:30 p.m.

Indian Center faces big test

LIVERMORE — A crucial meeting of the Indian Center committee is coming up.

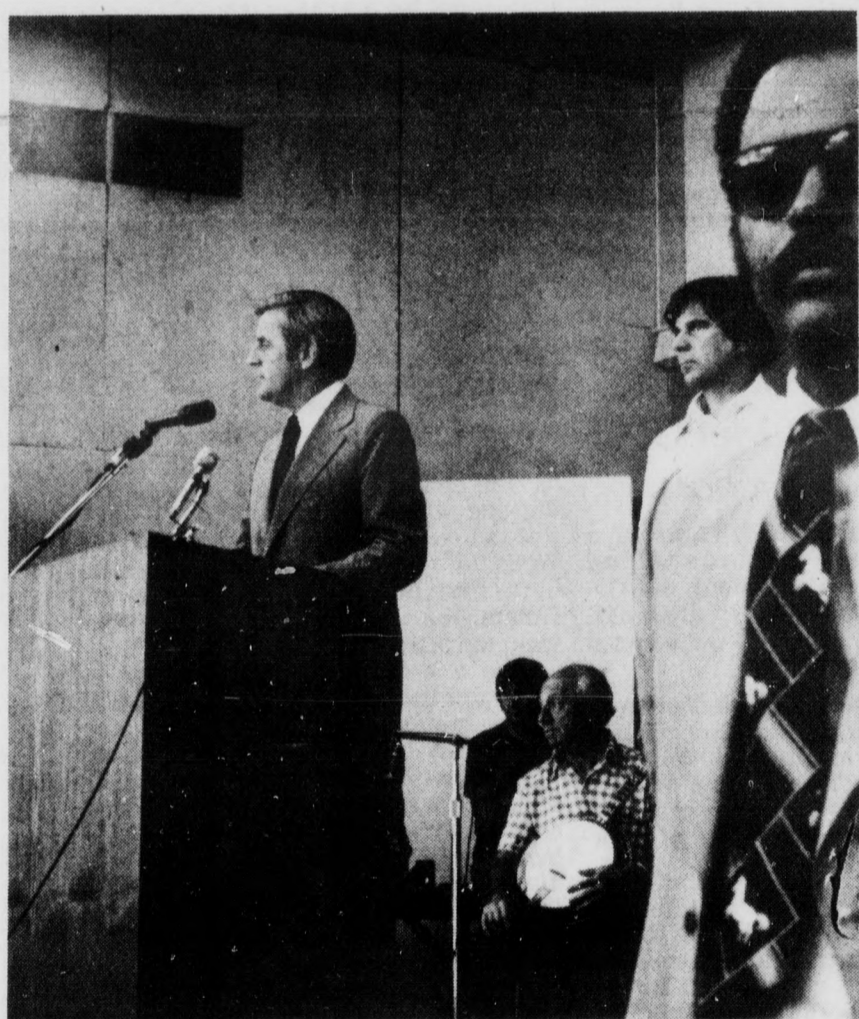

At 8 p.m. on Monday, Sept. 13, American Indian parents of Livermore will be deciding on the job description for a program coordinator who will be running their center at 577 North Livermore Ave.

The group will also discuss by-laws for the parent committee.

Barbara Karr, chairperson of the Title IV Parent Committee, may be contacted at the school district, 447-9500, for more information. The Indian Center is funded with federal Title IV money through the Livermore Unified School District.

Mondale launches labor's picnic

Vice-presidential hopeful Sen. Walter Mondale kicked off the annual Central Labor Council Labor Day picnic at the fairgrounds in Pleasanton yesterday. Mondale was joined by Rep. Pete Stark and a bevy of Democrats, all under the watchful eye of the Secret Service.

Miller on pipeline — 'excessive'

On Nov. 2, valley voters will decide whether a $28 million pipeline to pump treated wastewater from the valley to San Francisco Bay will be constructed. On Sunday, The Times presented the views of Pleasanton Mayor Robert Philcox and Valley Community Services District Director Ron Hyde favoring the measure's passage.

The following article is based on a recent interview with former Livermore Mayor Don Miller, who opposes the pipeline.

"The public can have absolutely no confidence that the pipeline's extra industrial capacity won't be used to build new houses. In my opinion, that is the intent of certain valley politicians."

That's the view of Don Miller, former member of the pipeline's sponsoring body, the Livermore-Amador Valley Water Management Agency (LAVWMA).

The proposed pipeline contains 15.72 millions gallons per day (mgd) for residential use, with an extra 4.1 mgd reserved solely for future industrial users in Livermore and Pleasanton. Although the residential capacity qualifies for 87.5 per cent funding by federal and state governments, the industrial capacity would be paid for entirely by the two cities using it.

The space reservation for future industrial users is designed to attract business to the valley, which is supposed to decrease residential property taxes, save energy and reduce air pollution by decreasing commuter miles travelled by valley residents, and keep the companies' payrolls in the valley.

(Dublin requested no industrial capacity due to the lack of space available for such expansion, and thus will receive and pay for none of its cost.)

Miller feels the currently planned pipeline is "unbelievably excessive" in size, and should not be built to those specifications.

"It should not be that large — it's irresponsible in view of the valley's pollution. The fact that the state and EPA (Environmental Protection Agency, a federal office) will fund it does not absolve local politicians," Miller said.

Pipeline planners figure the line will handle a two per cent annual growth rate, the number EPA officials use as the base. Miller says a two percent cent growth rate will mean a 1999 valley population of 150,000 persons.

"The law says we must try to meet federal air quality standards. The National Academy of Standards has twice reaffirmed the present standards. But if we can't meet the present standards without shipping out half of our present population, how much sense does it make to double that population? And yet, we're deliberately making it worse," Miller said.

"If everyone living in the valley worked here, we could probably meet the standards. All we need is 13 mgd for residential use, and 1.5 mgd for industrial; 19.72 (mgd), the present proposed pipeline total capacity is an outrage," he said.

Miller agrees on the pipeline concept, admitting that it is the best alternative so far offered. "We have a moral obligation not to pollute their (Fremont area) water," he said.

But he says the present pipeline is not only too big, its possible misuse could mean even worse air pollution problems.

"If everyone in the valley had local jobs right now, industry wouldn't use more than 2.5 mgd at most. Right now, less than .5 mgd is being used (for industry) — no way will the 4 mgd go entirely for industrial," Miller said.

"That reserve is as dishonest as any reserve I've ever seen."

He claims the 4.1 mgd is an artificial figure, which for the most part will be utilized by developers building single-family homes.

"There is not one word in the resolution that says 4 mgd is guaranteed for industrial. Promises by politicians are not good enough; it should have been written and guaranteed in the resolution," Miller said.

"That (industrial capacity) is either being designated for, or ultimately will be used for, home building. It has no legal backing. Home building will ultimately use up that extra capacity," he said.

He charges that the future use of the industrial capacity for home building is now "the intent of certain valley politicians;" otherwise, the legal guarantee for its proper use "would be in all the appropriate documents," which it is not now, he says.

He says the current wording leaves the industrial capacity open to change; "it could be changed tomorrow, next year, or five years down the line" to include homes.

"These things all ought to be written down so the public can sue to prevent subverting the principle of the agreement," he said.

Miller says the measure would eventually lead to a double taxation. "You're paying the taxes and sewer charges twice — for the extra capacity for the pipe, and taxes to subsidize new development needs," such as new schools and other needed public facilities, he said.

Miller says passage of the pipeline measure "opens up the way for legal attacks" by developers hoping to build homes for 45,000 residents in the Las Positas Valley of Livermore. "They could get started on 2 mgd, to support the first phase of 22,000 people," Miller said.

"The ordinary citizen doesn't get the grand guarantees he deserves — and yet he pays for them. Until he gets those guarantees, he should vote 'no' on big projects," Miller said.

...line size "irresponsible"

They've found an alternative to the busy suburban pace

PLEASANTON — Raymond Lee has been a horse auctioneer, man and boy, for 20 years and it isn't just the money that attracts him to it.

There is also a real opportunity to help people into a lifestyle where they can experience moments of freedom away from the hectic pressures of urban living, he says.

And that's one reason he will be running a horse auction from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. next Sunday at the Alameda County Fairgrounds, over near the 4-H Livestock auction area.

Lee and his wife, Eileen, have a 10-acre ranch on Sycamore Road just outside Pleasanton, and a 17-acre ranch in Auburn, where they also breed horses and board a few.

Horse breeding is a specialized business at the level where the Lees are involved. The horses they raise sell for thousands of dollars to buyers all over the country. While they have a few Thoroughbreds, Arabians, and quarter horses, their favorites tend to be the Apaloosa.

The Apaloosa was brought over to this country by the Spanish settlers and is growing in popularity, said Lee. One good example is a quaint little horse contest up in Reno, called the Snaffle-Bit Futurity. It's a good ol' West type of get-together and it always has been won by the hard working cowpoke breed of quarterhorse. But this year an Apaloosa came in third, and tongues are wagging about who might be the first in history to win the event on an Apaloosa.

Arabians are a nice breed, too, and Eileen showed them for a couple of years and still likes them. But they are not considered an all-around breed because they are highly spirited. "A six year old kid couldn't show one," said Eileen. They have a tendency to move before they think in some situations, said Ray.

Ray has had quite a career with horses in the Bay Area. He has ridden his horses for television commercials on Channels 2, 4 and 5, something he'd like to keep on doing if the agencies would keep calling. The money is good with all those royalties rolling in every time a commercial is shown on the air.

For one commercial, Lee put his horse on the steps of the Stock Exchange in San Francisco and had him take bows to people as they exited the building.

Also in the western vein, Lee writes songs and managed to sell a "semi-country" song to someone in Salinas.

There will be some professional horse buyers in the audience Sunday as well as local lookers-on, said Lee. There will be a tack auction beforehand, something which will help amateur riders around here get into better equipment, he noted.

Eileen teaches riding lessons and both she and Ray like the fact they can turn suburbanites on to a different life style.

"You don't have to listen to noisy traffic when you are out riding a horse. It's the kind of freedom you don't find much anymore. It's just a moment out on that trail. And everyone likes horses. They are the most beautiful animals around."

Politicians hard 'pressed'

Housing flap in Pleasanton

PLEASANTON — Two city council members who never have seen eye-to-eye managed to widen that rift over the weekend with an exchange of views on the city's responsibility to provide low-cost housing in an area that is well outside the municipal limits.

Vice Mayor Joyce LeClaire issued a formal press statement to respond to "the comments by Pleasanton junior council member Frank Brandes" that were earlier printed by one newspaper (Tri Valley Herald) in that newspaper's page one feature on "Public housing issue political football."

Part of that signed report dealt with a meeting of the Pleasanton Housing Authority at which Brandes was present, and where the topic was replacement of Komandorski Village, the World War II housing project at Camp Parks.

In the Herald's report Brandes was quoted as saying things like "Everybody supports public housing as long as it isn't in their neighborhood... Most people in Pleasanton moved here to get away from racial tensions," Brandes was also credited with hanging the "political football" notice on "the issue of public housing in Pleasanton."

All of which prompted LeClaire to issue her statement to the press and which "took issue with several comments" by Brandes as those issues were published by the Herald.

The Independent (in its Monday edition) picked up LeClaire's press release and chose to lead off with sions from each victim and a weapon. But Richard L. Marshall, who stopped in to rent a room, overheard the robbery and drove to the nearby Denny's Restaurant where he summoned CHP officers J.F. Wright and J. Pabst.

The patrolmen saw two armed men running from the motel, and, aided by Pleasanton police, searched the area. William Robert Reed, 36, was found lying in the field behind the motel and was arrested by Pleasanton Sgt. Gary Moore and patrolman Craig Veteran.

Sheriff's deputies R. Mello and W.J. Smith later arrested Terry Eugene Grant, 19, in a creek about one-quarter mile behind the motel.

Reed lists his address as 135 Madanos, Pittsburg; Grant told deputies he lives at 183 Bella Vista Ave., West Pittsburg.

Pleasanton police say two men wearing nylon stocking masks and totting sawed off shotguns barged into the Motel Six on Hopyard Road. They bound the manager, his wife and their guests with a lamp cord and rope before ransacking the apartment.

Parents speak out on big question

Comments sent in with survey forms by Murray School District parents are proving "must read" with district administrators.

The commentaries, some one line but most five to 10 lines in length, cover 124 bound pages. The survey asked parents to check whether they preferred the district convert an existing K-6 or K-8 school to solely seventh-eighth grade use or maintain the present organizational setup (one seventh - eighth grade school, Wells, three K-8 and five K-6).

Outcome of the survey, as announced at Wednesday's Citizens Advisory Committee meeting, showed a virtual standoff in the vote.

The CAC is now expected to weigh the survey results with a mountain of other data compiled over the last three months, starting with a meeting Wednesday at Frederiksen School.

Further meetings are expected between Wednesday and the first of October before the panel presents the data and its recommendations to the board (Monday, Oct. 4).

Following are some more comments, as transcribed from the 124-page book now at the district office:

From Cronin K-6 parents:

"I'm opposed to converting and would prefer that portables be added to Wells."

"I like the system at Dublin; K-8 schools. I don't want the little kids bused."

"Do a better job with what you have at present. Make the teachers earn their salary."

"I know the advantages of having a student in a 7-8 school and feel it is a much better system. In my opinion, the question is: Does this justify busing K-6 age students?"

"Building more schools is not the answer — better use of what we have."

"I think the money should be spent on more supplies and text books instead of converting schools."

From some Murray K-6 parents:

"Dublin seems most practical for this purpose. Would really have preferred to have a junior high built, but since this is no longer possible, I feel it would be more equitable to all kids in Dublin to have a complete junior high rather than K-8 — as long as school converted is NOT Murray."

"It is extremely important that all 7-8 grade students have access to the same quality and variety of junior high experiences and education. We feel they would then be better prepared for high school. It would seem converting a school with an existing 7-8 grade facility would be an advantage."

"I feel all the 7-8 students should be separated from the younger grades, however, not to the extent that if this is accomplished my elementary school children be bused. This would not be feasible, especially for K-3 children. I would fight."

From some Donlon K-6 parents:

"I want to convert and have single class dwellings."

"I prefer junior high separated. It makes the kids feel grown up and they like it better."

"Our children are now in a private school because the older children in the public school are too dominating and influential over younger people."

"Keep Donlon K-6 and bus 7-8."

"Donlon School is too crowded."

"I feel it is most important for student achievement to have a separate 7-8 school. It makes the transition to high school easier, and it enables a greater diversity of classes and subject matter."

"One of my children attends a private school which I can barely afford, because of my great dissatisfaction with the present school placement program. Several of our friends' children are doing the same."

"I want conversion, but no busing — can't have your cake and eat it too."

"Donlon School should not be in the Murray district; the language problem (teaching of languages) at Donlon is a disgrace, to say the least; I do not like seventh and eighth graders at Donlon."

More comments from Frederiksen, Nielsen, Lydixsen, Fallon, Dublin and Wells parents will appear in issues of the coming week.

Be straight with registrar

By BARBARA COHEN
Lesh News Bureau

MARTINEZ — It may seem like a harmless bit of fun to register your pet iguana to vote, but don't do it unless you're willing to spend at least a year in jail.

So warns County Elections Supervisor Lon Underwood about fraudulently filling out new voter registration postcard forms.

Under recently passed state legislation, known as the "postcard registration law", anyone 18 or over may now register to vote by pre-paid mail.

When properly completed, the form becomes a legal affidavit, by signing his name, date a registration, is responsible for the truth of all statements under existing perjury laws.

Persons previously registering to vote swore to their statements before a registration deputy. Registration through this method is still available.

One of the biggest drawbacks to the new forms said Underwood, is that until it is "properly completed, the voter is not registered."

Furthermore, the problem becomes more serious as the Oct. 4 filing deadline approaches, said Underwood because if the voter doesn't properly fill out the card, the first time around and sends it in too close to the deadline "he will be disenfranchised." Underwood sees the chance voters "getting very upset," to say the least.

So far 600 of the 3,000 forms already received by the Elections Office have been incorrectly filled out, and Underwood is expecting about 150,000 cards before the cut-off date.

Underwood also emphasized that a correctly completed form must be in his hands by Oct. 4; a card bearing a postmark that came to his office after the deadline on that date or an earlier one would be void.

Within two weeks of receipt of the card, the voter will get a wallet-size voter notification card which confirms him as a registered voter.

Underwood is basically not happy with the new registration method. He said it's too expensive and there's more possibility for fraud.

Under the new law, it costs 17 cents to process each form as opposed to 10 cents for each in-person registration. It also costs $2 a piece for every incorrectly returned form, said the elections supervisor.

Furthermore, the new form provides the county with only one copy, said Underwood, having to duplicate each one for the Election Office files, which are catalogued alphabetically as well as by precinct. This again raises the cost.

The single copy also raises the fraud possibility, since the cards won't be on file at the polls on election day, and poll officials will be unable to verify voters' signatures.

District board, welcome some of the 21 new teachers who'll take up duties next week.

New teachers on the job

Pleasanton and Amador district schools will have 21 new teachers in classes throughout Pleasanton and Dublin when classes open in the coming week.

The Pleasanton schools open Wednesday and Amador Friday.

New teachers were honored at a luncheon Friday in the Dublin High School cafeteria. Neil Sweeney, assistant superintendent for instruction and emcee for the afternoon, introduced administrative staff members and guests, including Robert C. Coney, deputy superintendent for Alameda County Schools, Chan Henderson, secretary-manager of the Pleasanton Chamber of Commerce, and Karen Kinney and Alton Jelks of Assemblyman Floyd Mori's office.

Principals of the various schools then introduced new faculty members.

New Pleasanton district teachers and their assignments are as follows:

Lonnie Battleson, sixth grade, Pleasanton; Kay Johnson, seventh - eighth grade English and drama, Pleasanton; Margaret Baldwin, half-time sixth grade, Pleasanton; Kevin Fennell, boys physical education, Pleasanton; Donna Inglesby, first, Valley View; Carol Bilheimer, first, Valley View; Keith Averell, second - third combo, Vintage Hills; Donna Eche, science, Harvest Park; Joy Carr, district speech teacher; Jonni Siegel, district speech teacher; Phyllis Mendoza, first, Alisal; Pat Wharton, counselor, Harvest Park.

Bob Brown has been named teaching vice - principal at Pleasanton School. He will replace Ron Delimagine who took a vice

- principal's position in Novato.

New teachers in the Amador Valley Joint High School District include Michael Gregg and Scott Achelis, both industrial arts, Amador; Barb Thomas, agriculture, Amador; Ella Wood, electronic word processing, Regional Occupational Program; Charlotte Curtis, homemaking and biology, Foothill; Gary Hicklin, industrial arts, Foothill; Frederick Layten, welding, Federal Youth Center; George Baljevich, English and social studies, Foothill; Rebekah Caplan, English and drama, Foothill; Mark Lepiane, drama, Foothill.

A majority of the new certificated staff members are graduates of Chico State. Several are transferring from one district to another or coming over from the Murray district as in the case of Baljevich. Foothill principal Richard Carroll said the school has seven new staff members.

Sweeney announced that Gary Cochran is serving as acting principal at Valley High School while principal Sam Ramey is on sick leave.

High costs, rolls down, schools hurt

By The Associated Press

Higher costs and lower enrollments have put the pinch on school budgets this year, prompting cutbacks in everything from the frequency of cleaning to the size of the teaching staff.

An Associated Press survey showed that the school financial troubles follow a familiar pattern: the problem is most severe in older, established cities with New York among the hardest hit.

Even the West is not immune, however. Dr. Louis Kishkunis, superintendent of the Denver public schools, said: "We may have a shortfall of about $22 million ... on a budget of about $200 million."

He said enrollment is down, causing a decrease in state funds based on the number of students. At the same time, Kishkunis said, "We have legislation mandating that we move ahead in special education ... and the reimbursement by the state runs only about 50 or 60 per cent of the cost."

He said there would be staff cutbacks, mainly through attrition. In addition, he said, "We're taking a serious look at our nonmandated programs" including sports and other extra-curricular activities.

The reluctance of voters to approve tax increases added to the crunch in some cities.

Officials in Detroit said operating the schools at the 1975 level would have left a deficit of $16 million. When the voters rejected a property tax increase, the board started cutting.

High school sports, except for football and girl's basketball, have been eliminated; first grade students will go to school for only half a day; the middle school day will be cut by one period; high school students will be limited in the number of courses they can take.

Teens learn to serve

As September appears on the calendar of months, and children return to school, mothers get back into their routine which they couldn't wait to get out of, but now are happy to return to their club work or "outside" interest whatever it may be.

With this coming activity, we here at the newspaper expect to hear from those seeking publicity for their cause. To help you to get the best coverage for your favorite association, we offer a few suggestions in submitting copy for newspaper print.

First of all, make sure your copy is legible. If at all possible, double-spaced typed copy is preferred. Typed or written copy should be on regular 8 by 10 size paper no matter how long or short the release is.

Make sure your name, club's name and your phone number are on the release. Be sure to include, what, when, where, why and any pertinent facts to make it an interesting release.

Time is another important factor in getting desired publicity into the Paper. Perhaps the saying, "the early bird gets the worm," might well apply to newspaper business. Putting copy into newsprint has constant deadlines for different departments of the business. Just because the paper is "daily" does not mean the entire copy is put together the day before.

Our "Lifestyle" page is always working days ahead, therefore it is most important to get your copy in as early as you know the facts about your event as you stand a better chance of getting copy into print.

Picture appointments should be made at least one week prior to when they will appear in print. Action shots with props are preferred over "posed" shots. Photographers are available to come out and take pictures of special happenings and events.

Releases should be dropped off at the office in Livermore, corner of Second and "M" Streets or Pleasanton, 126 Spring Street, whichever is more convenient to you. Or they may be mailed to P.O. Box 607.

DO NOT call releases in over the phone. It is too time-consuming and the reporter could be working on deadline which means neither time nor staff is available for taking down the release. Besides, written copy offers greater accuracy with less chance of misspelled names, etc.

Equal coverage is extended to all. There is no limit as to the coverage given to an individual club, however, if space is limited, the club which has received the least publicity to date will be given priority. Therefore, our suggestion to organizations is to determine what you consider to be your most important event of the year and where the newspaper can be of the best benefit to you, copy and picture-wise.

Our "Club Capsules" page comes out every Friday. Copy deadline is Wednesday noon of that week. Print appearing on Friday covers events for the following week.

The "Club Capsules" page was originated to help all clubs in knowing where and when to locate their copy. It eliminates the question "Can you tell me when this will get into the paper?" It also helps establish communications between clubs as organizations can sometimes guide their events by watching what others are doing. A conflict of activities and dates sometimes can be avoided.

When organizations have interesting speakers, we at the office like to be informed, as sometime it can lead to a fascinating, human interest story, either before or following the event. So, all of you keep us informed of your happenings.

"Lifestyle" page is not limited to the female gender organizations. We love hearing from men's organizations as well. Also the page is not for club interest only. We welcome human interest stories, be it yourself, the neighbor down the street, a teacher or the shy little girl who won all those awards when they said she would never make it, engagements and weddings along with photos, and any activities of community interest.

The Times is circulated throughout the valley — Pleasanton, Livermore, San Ramon and Dublin. A special front page is created for each of these areas unless the news is of valley wide concern then it goes on all front pages. Inside copy covers news of interest to valley wide residents as well as individual in depth coverage of a particular event for an area providing it is of great interest to the majority of readers.

So, have a good season of events and let us hear from you.

By Lilly Ault

"We enjoy being together, that's why we work so hard at what we do," declares young Cheryl Bledsoe. She is the new president of a corps of young women from 14 to 18 years of age seriously committed to community service — with the whimsical name of Snoopy Junioresettes.

Cheryl admits that the club's heavy slant on service demands a "certain type of girl." This summer the group has worked at the CURA drug rehabilitation center for young women at Camp Parks, making social contact with residents there in informal activities such as baseball games or a guitar jam session.

Junioresettes also volunteered to help with VCSD's community swim program for handicapped children. This weekend, members joined the army of volunteer assistants at the Jerry Lewis Telethon for Muscular Dystrophy in San Francisco.

Valley residents may recall that the Snoopy Junioresettes annually sponsor Operation Sweets, sending out 3,000 notices of a program that brings Halloween candy to children in the hospital. Every year children deposit thousands of Letters to Santa in a box at school and the Junioresettes WRITE BACK! The 52-hour dance marathon to benefit the Muscular Dystrophy Association in spring is also their project.

"But the club is not all work," Cheryl is quick to point out. Junioresettes frequently gather for a pajama party or other entertainment that helps sustain the group's camaraderie and enthusiasm.

The Junioresettes' yearly recruiting program is actually a kidnap breakfast. Unsuspecting teenagers are whisked out of their beds to the "come-as-you-are" breakfast and orientation in September.

The Junioresettes' high level of involvement earned second-place recognition among similar California clubs last year under the leadership of Barbara Follenfant. Last summer members of the group worked two to three days a week doing clean-up and repair work at Buenas Vidas Youth Ranch.

The Snoopy Junioresettes chapter is sponsored by the Junior Women's Club of Dublin and San Ramon, a community service organization for women 18 to 35 years of age. Involvement in the Snoopy chapter spurred eighteen-year-old Rene Bledsoe, Cheryl's sister and a past Junioresette president, to joining the Junior Women as their youngest member.

The Snoopy Junioresettes plot another active year Wednesday, Sept. 15 at the Bledsoe residence, 6896 Amador Valley Boulevard, Dublin. Young women of high school age may contact Cheryl at 829-0458 for details.

In the 104-degree heat, Sandy Wilson enjoyed the few splashes from the children of Komandorski Village who were treated to a summer swim by the Pleasanton Junior Women's Club recently. Approximately 60 children turned out for the yearly swim and refreshments put together by Chairwoman Wilson and her committee.

Charity golf tourney at San Ramon

A golf tournament at the San Ramon Golf Club to benefit Children's Hospital Medical Center will be hosted Monday, Sept. 13 by the Sycamore Branch of Children's Hospital and Antonino's Restaurant.

Shotgun start is at 11 a.m. Entry fee of $50 per person includes golf cart, green fees, tee prizes, trophies, and an awards dinner at Antonino's of Hayward featuring European cuisine.

Committee members include Antonino Carilli of Castro Valley and his son Larry Carilli of San Ramon. Tournament details may be obtained by calling Larry at 783-7800.

Hay rakes came in different shapes and sizes.

A grain harvester sits silently.

A cattle squeeze held the animals.

Hay rakes — also known as wind rows — cut the hay and put it in rows for baling.

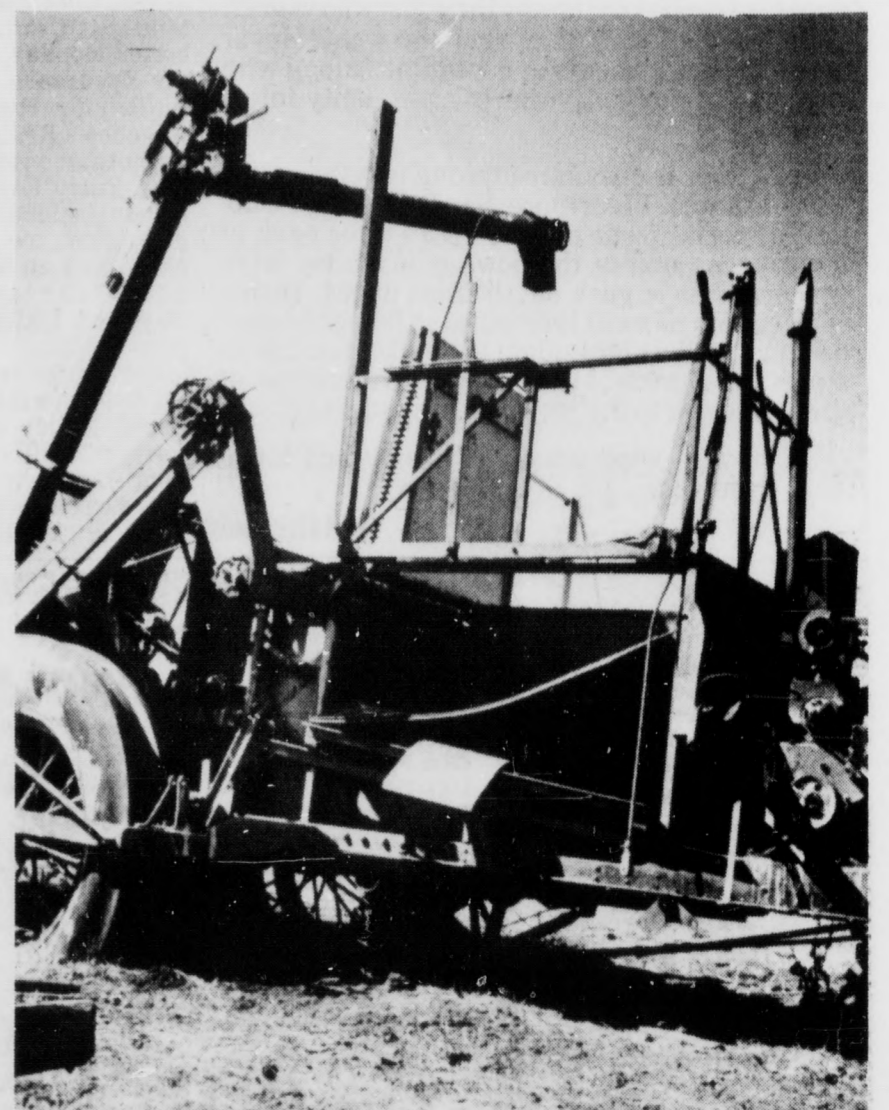

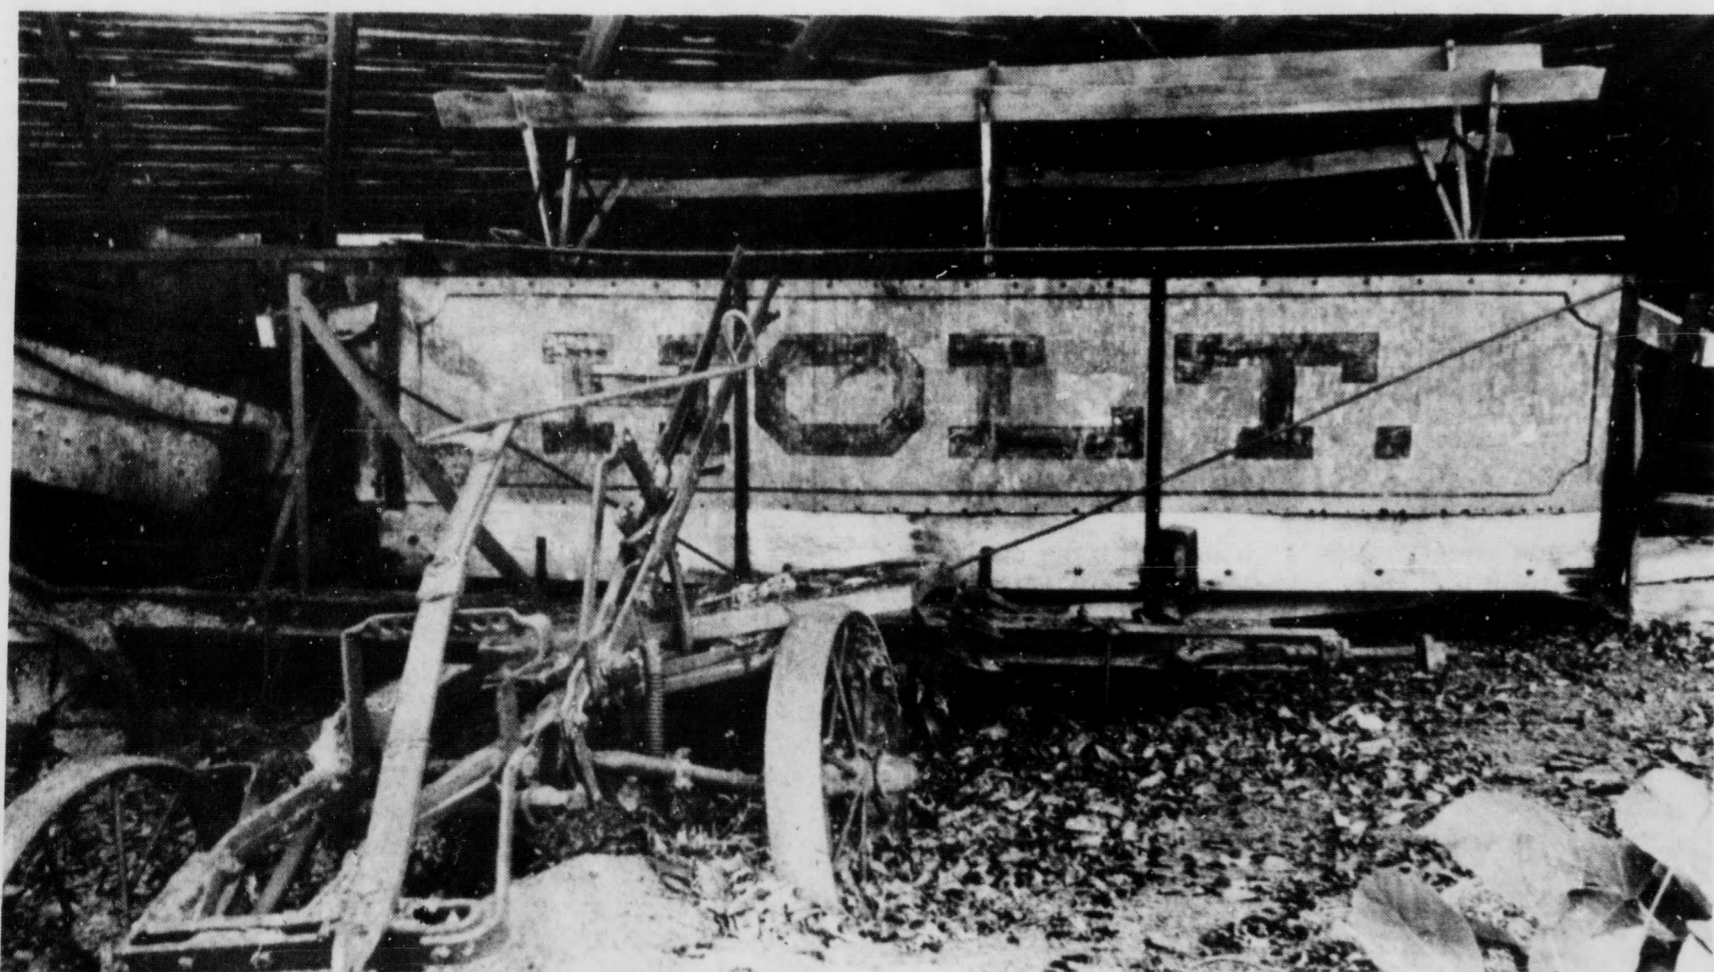

Metal Monsters out to pasture

Will they come to life, these cold conglomerations of steel that once reaped the harvest in this valley? These rust-clad hulks of agricultural machinery are resting now, tributes to a day when they were a boon to mankind and helped bring food to the table.

Found in the Livermore, Amador and San Ramon valleys, they defied age detection. Some were truly antiques, some just worn out. But in all cases, they were marvels of man's ingenuity — tributes to man's ability to reason and overcome nature for the benefit of all mankind. They rest now. They have earned their retirement.

Photos by Mike Macor
and Neil Heilpern

Grain combines were the monsters of their day. To left is a Holt combine (circa 1910-1920); above is another combine waiting for more of the golden stuff to come down the chute at top.

South wins the heart lead, draws trumps and goes after diamonds. The suit breaks 3-3 so he gets to discard two hearts and a club and wraps up 13 tricks.

This doesn't mean that seven was a good contract. It made because diamonds broke 3-3 and suits break 3-3 just 36 per cent of the time.

On the other hand, the contract of six was a very good one. It was sure to make irrespective of trump and diamond breaks since South could always discard his losing club on a high diamond and ruff his third heart with dummy's fourth trump.

The hand shows a weakness of standard American. When played in a matchpoint game the basic standard bidding went one spade-three spades-four spades-pass; or one spade-two diamonds-two spades-four spades-pass. The bidding in the box shows one expert way of reaching six. Most experts play that the jump raise to three is invitational but not forcing. Hence, North's three-spade bid was forcing and asked South to make some below-game slam try if he could. South could and did when he bid four hearts. North showed the club ace and South bid the slam.

An Oklahoma reader wants to know if it is ever proper to incur a penalty deliberately. The answer is most decidedly "no." Penalties are there merely to prevent unintentional wrong doing.

Parrish lone finisher

In a race that saw the lead change almost as many times as there were drivers Steve Parrish won the main event of the first annual Southard School 100-lap super stock race at Altamont Speedway Sunday afternoon.

Parrish, a driver from Santa Monica, was the only one of the 30 drivers in the main event to complete the 100 laps. He took the lead in his Ford Falcon with two laps to go when previous leader Bill Rozhon had to take his car into the pits.

Ironically, Parrish almost fell out of the race himself on the 85th lap. On the north turn he was bumped by another car and spun out before finally rejoining the field. He was in second most of the way until then. After the spinout he gradually worked his way back up to contention. "I felt I was in contention most of the way," the six-year racing veteran said in the winners' circle after the race. "I'm a second-half driver. Most drivers are. At the start of a race half the cars can be caught even if you don't increase your speed."

Was Parrish worried after his spinout? "No, not really," he admitted. "That was nobody's fault. Just one of those things. A lot of drivers were dropping out or taking spins."

Indeed they were. Only 15 cars finished the race out of the original. One of the lead but lost it to Rozhon on the 90th lap when he, too, developed engine trouble. Harper established himself as the favorite for the main event when he recorded the fastest qualifying time with a blazing 19.75.

Harper finished third in the Trophy Dash. That race pitted the six fastest qualifiers in the heats against each other. Al Balding won the event with a 1:45.33 clocking. Mike Orion finished second.

Harold Long qualified for the main event by winning the B competition by 500 yards. He led from start to finish.

About the only disappointment for the crowd of 2,800 was the failure of veteran drivers Dan Reed and Sonny Easley to show up. Easley competed in Bakerville Saturday night and blew his engine.

There were no official times for the main event which lasted about an hour-and-a-half.

Rick and Rayford rock in SJS roll

SAN JOSE — The San Jose State University football team was so high for its opening game against Utah State Saturday night, it would've been eye level with the Goodyear blimp.

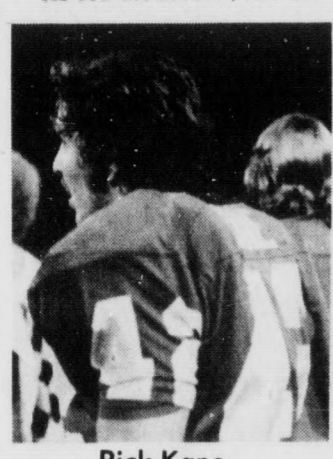

The Spartans, behind valley products Rick Kane, Rayford Roberson and practically everyone wearing San Jose's blue and gold, smashed the Aggies, 45-10.

The fourth largest crowd in Spartan Stadium history, 19,123 plus Olympic hero Bruce Jenner, enjoyed the onslaught as first-year coach Lynn Stiles appeared to have instilled the winning magic which helped UCLA to its Rose Bowl win last season.

While Stiles watched approvingly from the sidelines, Kane's footwork would've made Fred Astaire envious.

The former Amador Valley star darted for 124 yards in 17 carries and grabbed two passes for 32 yards. Kane scored the season's first touchdown on a 16-yard reception and added two more TD's later in the contest on runs of one and two yards.

As for Roberson, the for-

Rick Kane

for SJSU were a 24-yard field goal by Lou Rodriguez, Pat Kohlman's one-yard burst and a majestic 62-yard bomb from Steve DeBerg to Steve Joyce.

Utah scored on a 45-yard field goal from barefooted Tom Mayes and a last-minute 26-yard pass from reserve Keith Myers to Kory Coles.

Taking notice of his role in the passing game, Kane said kiddingly, "I told the coach before the game that if DeBerg didn't throw to me I'd quit."

Kane, who had runs of 12, 13, and 33 yards during the course of the slaughter, praised the entire offensive line.

"Give them all credit," insisted the Pleasanton flash, (guard John) "Blake, (tackle John) Heydeman, (center Paul) Kessler, (tackle John) Blain, and (guard Tim) Towes. They all did the job."

Adding evidence to his offensive line appraisal, Kane pointed to his knee pads and said, "Look here. My pants are still clean!"

Naturally, Kane was voted the game's most valuable offensive player while San Jose linebacker Randy Gill was tabbed the defensive standout.

On San Jose's upcoming contest with visiting Hawaii, Gill refused to speculate on the outcome of the final score. He did pull down a fruit from the cliché tree of sports and said, "As long as we win."

Kane, on the other hand, rubbed his chin and predicted "San Jose State by 21."

Suddenly, appearing from the darkened corridor, was team mascot Krazy George. George, who leads the crowd with his frantic gyrations and drum banging, asked, "Does anyone here have any deodorant?"

His wishes went unanswered, for there were no disagreeable odors on this jubilant occasion. Only the sweet smell of success.
